

Isaiah 55:8-9

"For My thoughts are not your thoughts, Nor are your ways My ways," says the LORD. "For as the heavens are higher than the earth, So are My ways higher than your ways, And My thoughts than your thoughts."

I have been a Christian for a long time, and I am still always learning from the Lord, everyday. But that's ok, I love it. But there is one thing I have learned, and that's not telling God how to do things. Why, because if you trust God, why are you telling him how to do thing?

Think about that for a minute. We all know and love today's devotional verse: "For My thoughts are not your thoughts, Nor are your ways My ways," says the LORD. "For as the heavens are higher than the earth, So are My ways higher than your ways, And My thoughts than your thoughts." It's awesome, so if His ways are way better than our own, why would we want to tell God how to fix something or what to give us? I know (and probably you can testify as well) of things I have prayed for and God did not answer my way, and I thought that God wasn't doing things right (that's our puny mindset that we all have), yet in the end, when God did it His way, it was waaaaayyyyy better than mine. In fact it was amazing, some of the things God has done in my life, when He did it His way, and not my way.

Even this very week God had answered my prayer about something that simply blew me away how greatly He answered my prayer. Why, because I just gave Him my request, and left the rest up to Him to take care of.

† Psalm 65:5 By awesome deeds in righteousness You will answer us, O God of our salvation, You who are the confidence of all the ends of the earth, And of the far-off seas.

† Psalm 66:5 Come and see the works of God; He is awesome in His doing toward the sons of men.
