

Prov 3:19-20 (NLT)

By wisdom the LORD founded the earth; by understanding he established the heavens.
By his knowledge the deep fountains of the earth burst forth, and the clouds poured down rain.

If you think about this world and how complex everything is. How we are made of millions of little molecules to form our body's, or how complex the brain is, or how a little tiny seed can grow into a magnificent tree, it's all mind boggling. Who ever in a billions years would have ever come up with the idea of taking the water on this earth, having it evaporate in such a way that you can't even see it happening. Then having all that evaporated water be collected into the sky, and stored until just the right time, to have it fall and return to the earth again to replenish it?
Only God!

† By his knowledge the deep fountains of the earth burst forth, and the clouds poured down rain.

Now who would ever come up with the idea that this entire universe in all its complexity, came from a cosmic explosion, or that man evolved from a tiny bit of goop into what he is today?
Only man
